DETAILED ACTION

Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-89, drawn to a method of treating an animal with a gas to preserve the meat of the animal, classified in class 426, subclass 315.
 - II. Claim 90, drawn to an apparatus for a gas solute containing solution used to treat meat comprising a means to dissolve a gas into a solvent, classified in class 99, subclass 516.
 - III. Claim 91, drawn to an apparatus for treating live fish with carbon monoxide and water comprising a tank, classified in class 119, subclass 51.04.
 - IV. Claim 92, drawn to an apparatus for treating seafood with a colloid solution and carbon monoxide comprising a container, classified in class 99, subclass 516.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:
3. Invention I and Inventions II, III, and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). The apparatus of Invention II solely comprises a means for dissolving a gas into a solvent, which could be used to make a beverage. The apparatus of Invention III merely comprises a treatment tank , which could be used to "treat" or wash dirty clothes. With respect to Invention III, merely comprises a container, which could be used to store sewage.

4. Invention II, III, and IV are all unrelated to one another. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). Invention II is a means to dissolve a gas into a solvent, whereas both Inventions III and IV are merely a treatment tank and a container, and have different functions than Invention II (i.e. they do not provide a means to dissolve a gas into a solvent). Inventions III and Invention IV are unrelated because, as disclosed, they have different functions,. The treatment tank , as disclosed is used to hold a live fish, whereas a container holds seafood.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Election of Species

7. Should applicant elect Group I, applicant is required to make a species election with respect to the following four areas:

- The animal treated

Art Unit: 1761

(A) meat (beef, pork, fowl)

(B) seafood (salmon, tuna, and tilapia)

Should applicant elect (B) seafood, applicant is required to further select a subspecies selection of

(i) salmon

(ii) tuna (including yellowfin fish)

(iii)tilapia

- The living status of the animal

(C) Alive

(D) Dead

- The respiratory/circulatory method

(E) Natural

(F) Artificial

- The gas delivery method.

(G) Foamed Colloid

(H) Capsule

(I) Liquid Solvent

8. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to a single disclosed species from each of the four said areas for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

9. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

10. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

11. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
